NOTES AND COMMENT

Seven of the eight Communists sentenced in Toronto yesterday will be deported at the end of their terms. Several of them have been naturalized but under the provisions of the Naturalization Act citizenship is cancelled by conviction for criminal offences within five years after the issue of a certificate.—Calgary Herald.

Wheat Prices Rise

The rise in wheat prices is due to a series of factors, notably the diminished volume of supplies from Russia and the poor grade of wheat coming from that country; reduced plantings and drought conditions in the United States' wheat areas; the poor quality of the European crop which has been damaged principally by rain; and the reduced world production of wheat and rye from last year's total.

The above set of factors have induced speculators to enter the market and somewhat of a sensational rise followed. There is some danger that the market may be carried too high in too short a time. From the present outlook indications are that there will be a steady demand for wheat during the year, but it should also be remembered that there are supplies available, notably in the United States and Canada and that the Australian and Argentine crops have not suffered damage to any extent as yet.

Russia undoubtedly has a considerable quantity of grain produced from this year's crop but much of it is of low quality. Furthermore it is indicated that the Russian transportation system has not been able to handle the grain expeditiously.

Garnet Wheat Grading

D. B. Ramsey, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners, has suggested that after July 1932 Garnet wheat will be graded separately. 15,000,000 bushels of Garnet wheat were grown and inspected at the terminals last year. Mr. Ramsey stated that is an extremely important matter that Canada maintain the standard of wheat grades.

There is a total of 5872 grain elevators with a capacity of 414,060,200 bushels in the western and eastern divisions, according to the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada. Of this total there are 5734 country elevators with a capacity of 192,328,100 bushels. Manitoba has 739 elevators with a capacity of 23,751,000 bushels. Saskatchewan has 3237 elevators with a capacity of 109,855,400 bushels. Alberta has 1748 elevators with a capacity of 65,344,200 bushels.

It is anticipated that France will require to import from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat this year.

Beware of the man who over-emphasizes his desire to be fair and honest.

From Oct. 1st to Nov. 6th, the price for wheat per bushel at the average country point in Western Canada has increased for No. 1 Northern from 34 cents to 52 cents, or an increase of 53 per cent. On No. 2 Northern the increase has been from 30 to 48 cents, or an increase of 60 per cent. On a very conservative estimate this should add at least twenty million dollars to the wheat income of the farmers of Western Canada.

Don't try to make money except by doing useful work. Don't lend your money to men who promise quick profits without work or worry. You'll lose.

"Yes," said Officer Tapp, in a mild manner, I can tell exactly what a person is thinking. In that case, said Palmer, I beg your pardon.

Co-ed: Is anyone looking?
2nd Co-ed: No.
Co-ed: Good. Then we don't have to smoke.

"It was terrible," said Mrs. Guebel. There were twenty-seven Swedes and an Irishman killed in the wreck.

"Indeed," said Mrs. Quigley, "the poor man."

Wife: "A little bird told me you were going to buy a Packard eight for my birthday."

Hubby: "Hum, that bird must have been a little Cuckoo."

Officer Laughlin: "Who's your close-mouthed brother over there?"

Daniels: "He ain't close-mouthed. He's waiting for the janitor to come back with the spittoon."

A Fishing Yarn

Fred Clever was with a party of friends on a fishing trip, and around the campfire one evening the talk naturally was on big fish. When it came his turn, Fred began, uncertain as to how he was going to come out: "We were fishing one time at Wall Lake for or—er—er—" "Wales," suggested Dupue. "No," replied Clever, "we were baiting with wales."

Our Best Thanks

To those who responded to our appeal for payments on subscription account. The amounts involved are small individually, but collectively become very important.

We still need the money very badly, so help us if you possibly can.

You Need a Local Paper

The district is small when it is considered as a newspaper field, necessitating practically unanimous support to make its publication possible. The only flaw in this respect is an inclination to forget payment of subscription dues. A fair start has been made towards remedying this, and if this movement continues until the Christmas holidays there will be little left to complain of.

Increase In The World's Wheat Consumption Indicates The Grain Industry Has Promising Future

Strengthening wheat prices and improved demand for that cereal indicate that the international situation is clarifying and the two-year decline in prices is at an end. The economic depths to which wheat sank had the direct result of reducing acreage to the extent of some 14,000,000 acres in Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina, and weather conditions have created a further reduction in production so that it now seems apparent that the world's surplus will be drastically reduced before the end of the crop year.

The world movement of wheat for the present crop year has averaged around 16,500,000 bushels weekly. This demand is running higher by a million and a quarter bushels weekly than the early estimates of Mr. Bromfield, well known British wheat authority. The healthy demand is due to low carryovers in importing countries and the comparatively poor quality of the current European crop. Non-European countries have purchased nearly 30,000,000 bushels of wheat so far this crop year, while 14,000,000 bushels greater than the purchases for the same period last year.

At the present time the attention of millers and traders is centered in the United States' winter wheat area. There is no doubt that the wheat prospect there is not encouraging, inasmuch as large production is expected. The official estimate of winter wheat seedling will not be available for a month or a half, but private observers predict at least a 16 per cent. reduction in acreage. Last year United States' winter wheat area averaged 100,000 acres, but the acreage on 100,000 acres. Winter killing was comparatively trivial because of the ideal condition of the crop as it went into the winter, and the favorable winter weather. The crop this year will go into the winter season under poor conditions and greater winter killing may be anticipated.

On the whole, the world wheat picture looks a lot brighter at the present time. Dealers show a confidence which has been absent for the past two years and there is a strong inclination to buy on a rising market than in the face of falling prices.

In spite of all that has been said about wheat consumption, late figures released by the Dominion Government show that there has been a marked increase in the world's wheat consumption. In the 10-year period from 1921 to 1931, the annual disappearance of wheat has increased by some 700,000,000 bushels. This would lead to the assumption that the wheat industry still has a promising future, and that as the years go by the prices of Western Canada will be called upon more and more to supply the world's daily bread.—Calgary Herald.

Japan Making Progress

People Seem Determined To Be Up-To-Date

Japan is determined to be "in" all the modern movements, and the latest reports from that land of cherry-blossom show that the young ladies of Japan have taken up the modern. The Japanese maidens, the Summer School of Oriental Culture at Tokyo, was recently informed, "will venerate Mount Fuji, but they are quite capable of climbing it with knapsacks on their backs." Japanese professional men, too, are determined to be in the swim. When representatives of the world's dentists met at Paris recently, they were astonished at the big strides the Japanese had made in dental science.

Boy Must Learn Languages

Commander Glen Kidston, the English motorist and aviator, who was killed in an air crash, has left the bulk of his $2,000,000 estate to his four-year-old son, Archie, on condition that the boy learn to speak and write French and German.

Overseas Immigration Offices Reorganization To Be Expected In The Interests Of Economy and Efficiency

As a move in the interests of administration, economy, and efficiency, the offices of the Department of Immigration and Colonization in the British Isles are to be completely reorganized with the likelihood that they will be concentrated in the large cities of London, W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, announced that it was the opinion of the department that the offices in the British Isles had been greatly overstuffed. The reorganization, he said, might mean that some of the offices would be closed and others enlarged.

No details of the plan were given, but it was understood the changes would be made very shortly, probably before the end of the year.

Activities of the department in British Isles and Europe are under the direction of W. R. Little, and offices are maintained, at present, in London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Belfast, Belfast, Dublin, Bristol and London. It is believed that in the event some of the offices absorbed in concentration points will be in London, Liverpool, Glasgow and either Belfast or Dublin.

With the general restriction of immigration to Canada from the British Isles and Europe, the overseas offices have been lately concerned with handling the highly selective type of farm settlers and those fulfilling certain requirements for professional and business immigration. Their work has been mainly educative with lectures, lantern slides and motion pictures of Canadian life, motor car exhibitions, distribution of literature and advertising.

No Treasure Discovered

Trunks Of Eccentric Woman Contained Soap From Many Hotels. The search for treasure in the sixty-five trunks stored by Mrs. Ida Wood, 93-year-old eccentric in the Manhattan Storage Co., Seventh Avenue and Second Street, New York, resulted in the discovery of no diamonds, bank notes, nor bonds, but it had produced cakes of soap bearing the names of hotels the world over.

Six trunks had been opened. They contained linen, towels, blankets and soap. The Ocean Hotel at Newport, the Hotel Leland at Narragansett Pier, the Windsor at Jacksonville, the Clinton in Philadelphia and other hotels in Europe and the United States—some of which long have been razed—were represented. Some of the carrels also bore hotel names.

Otto F. Wood, Mrs. Wood's nephew, recently appointed as guardian, declined the opening of the trunks. He said that inasmuch as Mrs. Wood had not kept house since 1876 most of the things so far found had been in the trunks for more than half a century.

The trunks themselves traced the history of trunk manufacture. Some of them dated from before the Civil War, and were little more than canvas covered crates. Others were heavy iron chests with complicated locks.

Wonderful feat at Parma, Italy, of railway engineering has been performed in the laying of a 240 foot bridge over the line between Parma and Spezia in 12 minutes. The bridge, which weighed 350 tons, was placed in position in the interval between the passage of two trains and traffic was not interfered with.

"Man has excelled the birds" boasts an aeroplane ad. No bird, for example, can get the ground at 60 m. p. h.

The United States can now call the Canary Islands on the telephone.

Question of the competency of the Vancouver harbor commission to enact and enforce these regulations is being studied by the Department of Marine and a decision will be made shortly.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

"You are wonderful—your English! If it had been I who had experienced your adventure today, I should be at rest for nothing. As to dancing the same evening—'ma foi non! Voyons, I shall leave you to rest a little.'"

She nodded amiably and left the room. Once in the corridor outside, however, the smile vanished as though it had been wiped off her face by an unseen hand. Her curving lips settled into a hard, inflexible line, and the soft, disarming dark eyes grew suddenly somber and brooding.

She paused wistfully along to her own suit. It was empty. The little Count was downstairs, apparently occupied in comparing symptoms with a fellow health crank he discovered.

With a quick sigh of relief at his absence she flung herself into a chair and lit a cigarette, smoking rapidly and exhaling the smoke in quick nervous jerks. "The long, plant fingers which held the cigarette were not quite steady."

"Tout va bien," she muttered restlessly. "All goes well! Assurance, his punishment will come." She bent her head. "Que Dieu le veuille!" she whispered passionately.

Jean took a final and not altogether displeased survey of herself in the mirror before descending to the big "salon" where the fancy-dress ball was to be held. She had had her dinner served to her in her room so that she might rest the longer, and now, as these came waited to see ears the preliminary grunts and squeals and snatches of melody of the hotel orchestra in process of tuning up, she was conscious of a pleasant glow of anticipation.

There was nothing strikingly original about the company she was going to meet. It represented "Autumn," and had been designed for a fancy-dress ball for more than a year ago—before the death of Jacqueline had suddenly shattered down all gaiety and mirth at Bienville. But, simple as it was, it had been carried out by an artist in colour, and the filmy diaphanous layers of brown and orange and scarlet, one over the other, seemed with a glorie of autumn-tinted leaves.

Sorry To See Night Coming She Could Not Sleep

Mrs. K. McElroy, Kirkfield, Ont., writes:—"I was very nervous and run down, so that I could not sleep, and had such annoying feelings, and was very nervous at night coming as I could not lie down or go to sleep."

I was advised to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took seven boxes and am now completely relaxed, can sleep fine all night, and have gained in weight."

cushion and dozed, at the back of her mind the faintly disturbing thought that she was cutting a Roman senator's dance.

Presently she stirred a little, hazily aware of some disquiet that was pushing itself into her consciousness. The discomfort grew, crystallizing at last into the feeling that she was no longer alone. For a moment, physically unwilling to be disturbed, she tried to disregard it, but it persisted, and, as though to strengthen it, the recollection of the defunct senator came back to her with increased insistence.

Broad awake at last, she opened her eyes. Someone—the senator presumably—was standing at the entrance to the little alcove, and she rushed into conscience-stricken speech.

"Oh, have I cut your dance?" It so happened that she was alone.

She broke off abruptly, realizing as she spoke that the intruder was not, after all, the senator come to claim his dance, but a stranger wearing a black mask and domino. She was sure she had not seen him before amongst the dancers in the "salon," and for a moment she stared at him bewildered and even a little frightened. Vague stories she had heard of a "shoofly" by masked men at some fancy-dress ball recalled themselves disagreeably to her memory, and her pulse quickened at its least perceptibly.

Then, quite suddenly, she knew who it was. It did not need even the evidence of that look of "pouder" hair above the white mask, but the flash in the dim light of the recess, to tell her. She knew, and with the knowledge came a sudden, disturbing sense of shy tumult.

She half-rose from the divan.

"You are stammering nervously."

"Is it you?" she asked.

He whipped off his mask.

"Who else? Did this deceive you?"

—dangling the strip of velvet from his finger, and regarding her with the quizzical grey eyes. "I've been hunting for you everywhere. I'd almost made up my mind that you had gone to bed like a good little girl. And then my patron saint—or was it the special will told of to look after me—I wonder—prompted me to look in here. 'Et vos, madame, mademoiselle! How are you feeling after your exploits in the salon?'"

He spoke very rapidly, in a light half-mocking tone that seemed to Jean to make the happenings of the afternoon unreal and remote. His eyes were very bright, almost defiant in their expression—holding a suggestion of recklessness as though he were embarked upon something of which his utmost self refused to approve but which he was nevertheless determined to carry through.

"So you did 'call to enquire,' after all?"

As she spoke, Jean's mouth curled up at the corners in an involuntary little smile of amused recollection.

"So I did call after all!" He looked puzzled and a little annoyed, as though he had no clue to her thoughts. "What do you mean? I came—he went on lightly, 'because I was curious about the day which you promised to share with me. The proceedings were cut short rather abruptly this afternoon.'"

"But how did you get here?" she asked. "And—why did you get here so suddenly after we got back to the hotel this afternoon?"

"I got here by the aid of a pair of excellent skis and the light of the moon; the moon ceased some hours ago and the surface is hardening quickly. I disappeared because, as I told you, if you gave me this one day, it should bind you to nothing—not even to introducing me to your friends." "I should have had to present you as Monsieur l'écume," remarked Jean without thinking.

"Yes." He met her glance with smiling eyes, but he did not volunteer his name.

He had made no comment, uttered no word beyond the bald affirmative, yet she felt that he was not so much had committed an indiscretion and had snubbed her for it. The blood rushed into her cheeks, staining them scarlet.

"I beg your pardon," she said stiltedly.

Agitated that tint of ironical amusement in his eyes.

"For what, mademoiselle?"

She was conscious of a deep indignation at his attitude. She could not understand it; he seemed to have completely changed from the man of a few hours ago. Then he had proved himself so good a comrade, been so entirely delighted in his thought and care for her, whereas now she was bent on vituperating him, putting her in a false position just for his own amusement.

Too Much ACID

MANY people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion—as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Mink of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. Good powder in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and, once the symptoms disappear, it will never return.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy cure.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Mink of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 50¢ a bottle—any drug store.

The ideal dentifrice for clean teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth-paste.

Testing Queer Theories

Scientists Take Big Chances When Making Some Investigations

Scientists in their own way, are nearly as intrepid as the more spectacular winners of Victoria Crosses, and it is not their fault that every line of research does not involve the risk of death or mutilation. When such a subject does present itself, however, the investigator seldom hesitates.

A case in point is that of Van Campen Heister, a famous big game hunter, an authority on deep-sea fish, and a valued member of the American Museum of History. The curious subject he has chosen to investigate is, which sharks really attack human beings and their methods in offence and defence.

To get to grips with his inquiry he sailed some time ago to the Bahamas with the expressed intention of swimming in a glass-bottomed boat.

The result may be to prove that the vicious named "tiger" shark is really the least harmful to human beings, thus relieving the apprehension of swimming in tropical waters.

Two or three rather eccentric research inquiries come from the United States. One of them, carried out by an efficiency expert, resulted in the world-shaking conclusion that pink desks do not get their best work while seated at pink desks.

Just why Professor G. H. Vanehl, of California University, weighed the breath of a hive of bees would be rather difficult to explain to a non-scientist audience. But he did it, and the world is now in possession of the information that the average hourly loss of weight by perspiration of the whole lot of bees is, in winter, 36 millionths of an ounce, and in summer twenty-five times as much.

Firm in London Makes Wonderfully Natural Artificial Eyes

There is in London, a firm in which eye making has been carried on by the same family for over 150 years. Artificial eyes made by this firm are so wonderful in their naturalness that even in a photograph no one would be able to detect it. It is possible even to make the pupil enlarge and contract. Business is done with Africa and with the natives in the mountains of the eye for idols. The eyes of a temple god must, of course, be of a very special kind. The fierce, warlike gods need piercing, flashing eyes, whilst those of the gentler kind require eyes that are liquid pools of sympathy.

Pioneer Smelting Plants

Sweden Manufactured Iron and Steel During Middle Ages

That Sweden was a pioneer country with regard to iron and steel manufacture during the Middle Ages has now been proved by a medieval will recently found, dated March 25, A.D. 1360, which mentions an iron furnace situated at Vikmanshyttan, in the Swedish province of Dalecarlia, where iron manufacture is still carried on. The document states that one-fourth of the Vikmanshyttan furnace belonged by right to one Olof Torstenson, whose existence as well as that of the other signatories, has been proved by genealogical research. Mining has, of course, been carried on in Sweden from the times immemorial, although the methods of earlier ages were rather primitive. "This last discovery proves satisfactorily that some 600 years ago the iron-masters of Dalecarlia had introduced the furnace method in the Swedish iron industry."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

YEARS' ENDING

Now that the year turns towards its end,

Bloom-time and seed-time through,

With gold and scarlet leaves descending,

Let me drift, too.

Let me forget too much of longing,

Two bright and hopes of beauty through;

Autumnal slopes.

Behind I leave the city's clamor

To divide to a sigh.

As down strange paths of dream and glamour,

The year goes by.

I would forget the care and travail,

The haste of anxious ways,

No tangled skeins would I unravel,

In these calm days.

Gone now despair beyond attaining,

Sweet, sweet, my joy life gives.

This beauty, through the year is waning,

That thrills and lives!

Manitoba Gold Production

Five Times Greater This Year Than in Previous Year

Production of gold in Manitoba during the current year is estimated at five times greater than the amount produced in previous years, according to Hon. G. D. McKenzie, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

He said there was considerable progress in gold around the Prairies, but for the base metals. "Many interesting finds are being reported, and it is expected that more mines will be opened next spring," he added.

"Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love."—Romans ad. 10.

To bless mankind with tidings of flowing wealth.

Our little to grace them, or to crown with health.

Our little to doles; yet liberal still, God gives its counterpart to every ill.

Not let us murmur at our stunted powers.

When kindness, love, and concord may be ours.

The gift of merriment to others' ease, To all who have impartial Heaven's care;

The gentle offices of patient love, Beyond all dattery and all praise should be.

The mild forbearance at a brother's fault.

The angry word suppressed, the taunting thought.

Western Fair Dates

Canadian and British Talent May Be Engaged To Supply Attractions
Western Canada Fair Association members, at a meeting in Saskatoon, decided that as far as possible Canadian or British artists would be engaged to supply attractions at summer fairs through western Canada in 1932.

While no decision as to attraction was arrived at, it is understood that several offers have been received from British bands and British vaudeville artists seeking engagements for next year. All means for the delegates attending the meeting expressed their desire that only Canadian or British Empire artists should appear on the program next summer.

A considerable part of the time of the meeting was taken up with the discussion of ways and means for adopting economies which would not impair the efficiency of the fairs.

Dates of summer fairs for next year were set: Brandon was allotted the week opening July 4; Calgary, July 11; Edmonton, July 18; Saskatoon, July 25; and Regina, August 1. Dates set for 1933 were: Brandon, opening July 3; Calgary, July 10; Edmonton, July 17; Saskatoon, July 24; and Regina, July 31.

Winter fair dates agreed on were: Brandon, starting March 14; Regina, March 21; Saskatoon and Calgary, March 28; and Edmonton, April 4.

Says Cancellation Of Taxes Impossible

Premier Anderson Warns Saskatchewan Residents That Municipal Taxes Cannot Be Wiped Out

"There is no manner whereby taxes can be wiped out or dispensed with," declared Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, in a recent statement in which he warned against the assumption, in some sections of the province, that taxes due rural municipalities would be cancelled. Inability of the municipalities to meet their bills, he said, could only result in the discontinuance or curtailment of essential municipal services, while continuance under government control would virtually mean abolition of local self-government without any release from taxation. The full text of the statement, which is a significant and important one in the present juncture, follows:

"The Government has received many letters having to do with the payment of taxes. Some of our correspondents suggest that the Government should consider the possibility of cancelling a large percentage of the taxes due to rural municipalities by the taxpayers who are unable to pay them in some manner. It is pointed out that this feeling is having a very bad effect on the municipalities."

"A little consideration will show that such a course of action is impossible. There is no manner whereby taxes can be wiped out or dispensed with. The taxes paid by our people to their municipalities are spent on:

1. To assist in maintaining schools.
2. To assist in operating our sanatoria.

3. To pay for municipal telephone debentures.

4. To pay interest and principal of the indebtedness owing by municipalities.

5. To pay for municipal fire insurance where same exists.

"Taxes are levied to maintain these services because the ratepayers of each municipality voted in favor of these services. Just handicaps, as it is a great art to hand out, a considerable number of our rural municipalities are incumbered with debt on account of their expenditures for relief purposes, but it must be remembered that these relief expenditures were exceptional as the municipalities cannot collect their own taxes because of a disinclination of their residents to pay them, then these services which their own ratepayers voted in favor of having cannot be carried on. It has been suggested that they would still be carried on by the Government taking over the administration of same. If this were done, it would mean the abolition of local self-government and would not decrease the taxes of the ratepayers in these rural areas one iota. Many would have to be found to maintain such services, whether found by the rural municipal council or by the Provincial Government. These moneys could come from one source and from one source only, and that is from the pockets of the people. There are no other places."

"We are living in serious times. Municipalities find that although their revenues are decreasing their obligations remain the same and in some instances, have increased. It is too late at the present time to repudiate these obligations by the municipalities. They must pay to assist in meeting them. It is too late to say that while we need these services some one else has to pay for them, particularly when we ourselves have voted for these services. If these difficult times have one lesson for us it is that services are not free. They must be paid for. We are now confronted with the unpleasant duty of paying for these services which we must pay for by means of our taxes. There is no other way."

"It is true that taxes are true of other legitimate accounts. When it is within the power of the debtor to make reasonable payments, then reasonable payments should be made."

PAUL IN ROME

Golden Text: "I can do all things in Him that strengtheneth me." Philippians 4.13.
Lesson Acts 25:1-12; 28:16-31.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 24-24.

Explanations and Comments

Rome. At Last, verse 28. While still in Ephesus Paul declared that after he had been to Jerusalem he must see Rome. Little did he realize that more than three years, packed with surprising happenings, would elapse before he reached Rome in chains. He "must see Rome." Just as the cohorts and representatives of the Roman government and the merchants of Roman trade, went out to all the world along the far-extending network of Roman roads, so Paul expected the message of Christ and His triumphant reign to go out over those same roads to the last corner of the Roman world.

Rome was the great climax of Paul's work, and of Luke's history, and his biographer who he regarded as the apostle in achieving their long-dead goal, Luke inserts in Acts 28, fourteen he, "So we came to Rome," and again in lodging, he adds, "And when we entered into Italy, Paul was shown a house, ready during his stay in Rome. Possibly the good report of Festus and Agrippa concerning the prisoner they had sent them gave Paul an advantage, and without doubt, Luke, the centurion whom Paul had helped on the way, was successful. Instead of being kept in the guardhouse of the Praetorian camp Paul was allowed to hire a house, or rather live there by himself with the soldier who guarded him, and to whom he was chained. He often alludes to these things, as he does to the prominent Jews of Rome, who came to visit him, verse 30. See 2 Timothy 4:10; Colossians 4:3; Philippians 10; Ephesians 6:20.

There is a frequent change of soldiers, and this Paul had an opportunity of spreading his message widely along the Praetorian guard, in Philippians 1:13. Paul says that his bond and chains him, and that he is Christ "throughout the whole Praetorian."

The chain on Paul's wrist was his chance to have a listener to his message, and he could write to the Philippians, "I would have you to know that I have been in chains, but I have not been able to have fallen out rather into the progress of the gospel." Handicaps can be counted just handicaps, or capital on which to do the business in hand. It is a great art to hand out, a considerable number of our rural municipalities are incumbered with debt on account of their expenditures for relief purposes, but it must be remembered that these relief expenditures were exceptional as the municipalities cannot collect their own taxes because of a disinclination of their residents to pay them, then these services which their own ratepayers voted in favor of having cannot be carried on. It has been suggested that they would still be carried on by the Government taking over the administration of same. If this were done, it would mean the abolition of local self-government and would not decrease the taxes of the ratepayers in these rural areas one iota. Domestic Bureau Of Statistics Announces Change In System

A new livestock survey is to be undertaken by the Dominion Government, particularly of breeding and marketing intentions, on December 1 of this year, it has been announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Since 1917, an annual survey has been made in June, in co-operation with the provincial governments, and in future the survey is intended to continue on a dual survey basis as at June and December 1, and thus secure a perspective of the livestock industry every six months.

In every province, except British Columbia, cards will be distributed to farmers through the rural schools. In British Columbia, the cards will be mailed direct to farmers for the first time. In certain areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan where rural schools are not organized, the livestock associations have co-operated in providing mailing lists so that the ranchers may be reached directly. The cards will be distributed during the latter half of November.

Saskatchewan Salt Well

Said To Be the Deepest Salt Well In The World

Recent developments at the Simpson Oil Company Well, 88 miles north-west of Regina, and about two miles west of Simpson, have resulted in giving to Saskatchewan the deepest salt well in the world, 3,440 feet deep, with a brine that comes out of it at 98 per cent. pure, and producing a salt of the highest quality. A small demonstration plant, installed at the well has produced some excellent salt.

In 1924 a company was organized, at Simpson for the purpose of drilling for oil or gas in the Simpson field. Drilling started that year, and in 1931 the well had reached a depth of 3,440 feet when a flow of brine was struck.

Officials of the company have examined the possibilities for the sale of salt in Saskatchewan, and report that Regina alone consumes six tons per day. In the province approximately 70,000 are used every year.

With the production of salt in this well, there opens another possibility, the development of the fish canning industry in the northern hinterland, where no attempt has been made to operate because of the high cost of the salt. But is also used in smelters, and with the opening of the large mineral belt in the north, directors of the company expect the hope that smelters will be erected to refine the metals where they are mined.

The company plans to erect a modern salt refining plant at the well, and next spring to start another oil well two miles east of the site of the oil well, where geologists hope part of the structure is located. In the meantime salt will be produced for commercial purposes.

"The name of the loan will be 'Dominion of Canada National Service Loan,' a statement issued by the Department of Finance declared.

"The campaign is now being organized by a general management committee, of which Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., president of the Bank of Montreal, is chairman, and it will be nation-wide, the Department of Finance today placing large orders with the king's printer for prospectus and application forms, the latter requisition for the former being for 1,500,000 copies.

"The treasury is closely watching the movements of security prices for, while this issue is to be a domestic one, the day-to-day values of bonds in Canada are influenced by the values placed on Dominion of Canada securities in New York.

This is the first announcement of the impending loan from official sources, although it has been forecast for some time. It has been rumored that the loan would be for $125,000,000 bearing interest at 5 per cent, but indications are that the exact amount to be asked for has not yet been definitely decided upon and $150,000,000 may be nearer the mark.

OTTAWA, Ont.—Announcement by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of the acceptance of the invitation of Rt. Hon. R. B. ## LEAGUE TO DEAL WITH TROUBLE IN MANCHURIA

LONDON, Eng.—Sir John Simon, new Foreign Secretary, is going to Paris for the League of Nations meeting concerning Manchuria, and it was announced that U.S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will chair the proceedings for the United States.

In London the opinion is that the issue will be brought down to earth at this session and serious, if not definite plan for dealing with the situation in Manchuria may be evolved.

One way out, it is suggested here, would be for the League to appoint an international investigating commission whose work in the Far East would require several months during which the belligerents might cool off and the dispute might be settled by peaceful negotiations.

Falling this, an alternative would be an attempt to force Japanese obedience to the League's dictates but no authoritative commentator would say he thought the League was likely to adopt such a course.

Geneva, Switzerland.—Japan has resumed the offensive in the Nomi Bridge area in Manchuria, according to an urgent communication to the League of Nations. The message said that Japan's troops had advanced their lines and were 20 kilometers of the road to Taitshui.

The Chinese were retreating, the communication declared, under bomb attacks and shell fire from the Japanese forces.

Two more letters from Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese member of the League of Nations Council, charged that Japanese military authorities in Manchuria were working systematically to displace local Chinese authorities with groups under Japanese control.

Shocks British House

Labour Member Denies Speech From The Throne

LONDON, Eng.—Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, Parliamentary veteran and leader of the Labor Opposition, shocked the House of Commons by "naming a copy of the King's speech opening Parliament and describing it as 'this incongruous document, full of nothing from beginning to end.'"

His gesture came in the midst of a scathing attack on the new government for what he called its vague policies and upon the Prime Minister himself, for the part he played in forming the National Government.

Canadian Wins Cup

New York, N.Y.—Canada took one challenge cup from the National horse show in the fourth day of the 16th annual "at Madison Square Garden, when James Franchini, of Toronto, won the Danm-Woodfin challenge trophy for heavy harness horses with his black gelding, "Saxon Ideal," which was perfectly driven to beat out a selected field of six entries.

Foolish Economy

War Debt Blamed For World-Wide Depression

LONDON, Eng.—High points touched by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, speaking at the first business session of the new House of Commons.

A system of "crazy economy" in regard to war debts and reparations has brought about world-wide depression. "It is impossible to decree that without regard to circumstances certain things shall be done," he declared, "but one nation to another without resulting in impoverishment of the nation which hands out the aid and ultimately of that which received it."

Premier Laval's visit to the United States should lead to an understanding between France and Germany. "In the full and final understanding, however, every nation involved must be a party to the agreement."

Unable To Act

Sir John Simon Not Deprived From Acting On Canadian Cases

LONDON, Eng.—The forgiveness by Sir John Simon of the foreign secretary of the National Government automatically deprived several important Canadian interests of its legal services, particularly in cases before the Privy Council.

It was intended he should lead for Quebec province in the radio control case, but the change of which is expected to take place early in December, but it is now presumed some Canadian counsel will appear in his stead.

The estimated yield per acre is based on 114 bushels of wheat, compared with 16.0 in the season of 1930.

LITTLE REAL PROGRESS MADE TO END WAR

Menace Of Armaments

The Very Root Of War, Says Sir Robert Borden

OTTAWA, Ont.—The menace of armaments is the very root of war, and the only way to end it is to disarm. Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime Prime Minister in a Remembrance Day message here. More than ever the menace of armaments threatened the world today he asserted.

"Can we estimate humanity's irreparable loss in the sacrifice of the generation that went forth to conflict against the menace of armaments?" "In how great measure are present day burdens, destruction and distress due to the destruction and wastage of that conflict and of past wars?"

"I am sure you will join me," Sir Arthur stated, "in saying that the only disarmament conference is a success that it succeeds in bringing about an honest and universal reduction in the killing and wounding power of arms. It will do no good in fact, it would have the opposite effect, if one nation disarms honestly while another does not. Disarmament must be honest, must be mutual, must be universal."

"Thirteen years have gone by and the world has been our disaster. It is true we have tried to do something which we hoped would produce peace, but we have not done it. The League of Nations, whose definite purpose is the promotion of peace and the settlement of international controversy by peaceful means."

"We have our Locarno and Washington pacts, we have the Kellogg-Briand treaty which registers the determination of more than 60 countries including the United States and Russia, to condemn recourse to war for the solution of controversies and to renounce it as an instrument of national policy," he went on.

"The history of the past has taught us, and the history of the present confirms most emphatically, that these solemn engagements are utterly disregarded. Witness what is now happening in Manchuria between China and Japan. Whatever the irritants may be, and I have no doubt it has been great, Japan has broken her word and prostituted her pledge by her warlike action in the last month. With inexcusable effrontery she has defied the League of Nations, which seems to be as powerless as it has been weak."

Sir Arthur felt a great mistake had been made by the League in inviting a representative of the United States of America to join the Council Board. That political move seemed to have been a blunder in the eyes of the League than the struggle itself, "or did they know that the League would fall and wish to have the United States of America associated with the failure?"

STAY WITH THE WHEAT POOL

In commenting on the delivery of wheat to Pool elevators in the prairie provinces, The Northwestern Miller, never very friendly to the Pool movement, says: "There is reason to believe that all three Pools have up to the present enjoyed their usual quota of grain handling in the country. Such conditions in a year of short crops and keen country buying bespeak the loyalty of the western farmer to the organization he has built up."The solidarity of purpose manifested by the grain growers of the west wingers grudgingly praise even from opponents. Do not let up for a minute.
